

Social Integration Unit

Integration has a long history throughout the Artland cultural region and is on the agenda now more than ever. The residents of the community, who come from 89 different countries, make Artland a multicultural and colourful municipality.

With funding from various areas, we have been working since 2003 to advance integration in the community of Artland. For example, Quakenbrück was an ExWost model municipality in the past, has had a Social City Neighbourhood since 2004 and participates in the development programme "Jugend Stärken im Quartier", which is funded by the EU and the federal government. Furthermore, many full-time and voluntary actors work in various committees to shape life together in the community and to solve problems together.

Our new citizens are provided with multilingual flyers for initial orientation with information on everything they need to know about life in Germany.

Integration work in the community of Artland is coordinated by the Social Integration Office:
