

Police

The duties of the police are firmly regulated throughout Germany. The police act as a friend and helper. They are there to ensure the safety of the population.

The police have various tasks. Their tasks include

- Keeping an eye on crime and problems in road traffic
- investigating and combating criminal offences (§ 163 StPO)
- regulating road traffic. recording and investigating traffic accidents (Section 44 (2) StVO);
- investigate and combat cybercrime;
- train the next generation of police officers
- Fighting fires and environmental disasters
- assist in emergency operations when the fire brigade is part of the police force;
- operate and support the volunteer fire brigade if the fire brigade is part of the police force;
- guard objects
- accompany demonstrations
- securing waterways (water police).

Are you in danger and need the help of the police? Or someone else needs your help?

110: The number for the police

Then dial the emergency number  110. The number is free of charge and can be reached from anywhere.

You should always call this number if you feel threatened or in danger. Or if you are the victim of a criminal offence and need the help of the police.

You should also call if you notice that others are in danger. Even if you only suspect this, it is right to call 110.

112: The number for fire and rescue services

In the event of an accident, fire or if someone is in an acute and potentially life-threatening emergency situation, dial  112
