Important offices

Migration Department (Foreigners' Registration Office)

What are the functions of a foreigners authority?

To stay in Germany for a longer period of time, you need a special "permit". There are different types, such as a visa, a residence permit, an EU Blue Card, a settlement permit or a permanent residence permit. These are all residence permits. If you have one of these, you are allowed to stay in Germany as a foreigner.

After your arrival in Germany, you should report to the Foreigners' Registration Office. In Krefeld, the foreigners authority is called the "Migration Department". You can apply for a residence permit there. This title is also called an electronic residence permit. Here you will find information on how to apply for your electronic residence permit.

What else you can do at the Immigration Office:

- You can extend your proof of arrival.
- The foreigners authority will give you permission to stay here and extend it. This is also known as a residence permit.
- You can apply for a work permit.
- You can register and deregister your place of residence. If you move house, for example, you will receive a new registration certificate. This is a document that tells you where you are registered.

- You will receive a residence permit and an exemption authorisation for travel.

The Migration Department

If you do not have German citizenship, the Migration Department in Krefeld is often the first authority you come into contact with. The Migration Department helps people who come from other countries and want to live in Germany. It takes on the tasks of the Foreigners' Registration Office, the Naturalisation Office and the Residents' Registration Office for foreign nationals.

The Migration Department has various departments that work together.

The front office is the first place you can get help. There you can:

- Order and collect residence permits
- Submit declarations to invite family members from abroad
- make appointments, for example to register your residence. Further information and appointments for residence registration can be found here.

You can still register your place of residence by appointment. Since March 2024, it has also been possible to register your place of residence without an appointment.

Consultation hours without an appointment have been introduced for this purpose.

These are the times when you can come:

Monday: 08:30 to 12:00, 14:00 to 15:30

Tuesday: 08:30 to 12:00

Thursday: 08:30 to 12:00, 14:00 to 17:00

Friday: 08:30 am to 12:00 pm

The Asylum and Refugee Affairs Department is responsible for

- The extension of your permit
- Deciding on applications for work permits
- Issuing a residence permit if your asylum application was successful
- If your asylum application has been rejected, the staff will discuss with you the possibility of leaving the country or check whether there are grounds for a tolerated stay.

The following issues are decided in the area of residence and naturalisation :

- The granting of visas for entry
- Temporary and permanent residence permits
- Naturalisation.

In the area of return management , decisions are made on the deportation of people who have, for example, committed serious criminal offences.

💡 If you have recently moved to Krefeld, you must register with this office within two weeks:

- People from a third country or from an EU country must register their move with the Foreigners' Registration Office.
- All others must register their move with a citizens' office. These citizens' offices are located in Krefeld Mitte, Bockum, Fischeln, Hüls, Traar and Uerdingen.

Registry office

The registry office has several tasks. These are, for example

- Notarisation of births
- marriages
- Issuing certificates
- Notarisation of deaths

Births

A birth certificate is the most important document for a newborn child and for you as parents. Only when your child has a birth certificate will you receive child benefit from the state and be able to apply for health insurance.

The hospital is responsible for informing the registry office of the birth of a new child. They will need the following original documents:

- Birth certificates of the parents
- Marriage certificate of the parents
- National passports of the parents

Be sure to bring these documents with you to the hospital for the birth. You will receive your documents back in the post after a few days.

💡 If the father or mother was not born in the EU, you must have your birth certificates and marriage certificates notarised and translated. Your child cannot be registered at the registry office before this. Sometimes it takes several months before you receive the certificates. You should therefore contact your registry office @geburten@krefeld.de as soon as you find out about your pregnancy. They will tell you which documents you need to apply for.

Marriage

If you wish to get married, you must register this in writing at the registry office. If you would like to know which documents you need for the wedding, you can enquire here.

Krefeld certificates

You can order Krefeld certificates directly via the certificate portal.

Integration department

The Integration department offers a wide range of services for people from other countries and for better coexistence.

A social worker in Krefeld is available for people who have a history of flight. This person will contact you soon and visit you in person. You will have the opportunity to discuss any important questions that have arisen in your new life situation in Krefeld.

The following services offered by the Integration Department for new immigrants are of particular interest:

Counselling

If you are looking for advice on integration issues (e.g. recognition, further training, labour market, other hurdles), you can contact the case managers of the Municipal Integration Management \(KIM\). They will help you with your questions.

School enrolment

If you have school-age children and would like to register them for school, you do not have to take care of this on your own. You can arrange a counselling appointment here. The staff will make sure that a school place is found for your children.

Holiday language courses

During the holidays, your children can take part in Holiday Intensive Training - FIT in German. Here they can improve their German language skills in a fun way, play with other children and get to know the city of Krefeld better.

Volunteer interpreters

If you need support for an official appointment because you still have problems with the German language, you can ask for a volunteer interpreter. Volunteer interpreters are people who accompany you to your appointment free of charge and help you to understand the information in the conversation. You can ask where you have the appointment if someone can be there to help you translate.

Family pilots

The family guides support migrant parents with their children, especially when the children are still small. The parents are supported in everyday life with their children. The children are thus encouraged in their abilities and have a better chance of a good education.

The programme is primarily aimed at parents who are still living in collective accommodation.

Integration guides

Young volunteers between the ages of 17 and 25 have the opportunity to meet up with an immigrant of the same age and discover the city together. You can spend your free time together, do sports and talk to each other over a cup of tea or coffee. If you would like to take part, please contact @ vielfalt@krefeld.de using the keyword "ILOS".

Form help

The language used by authorities is often difficult to understand. It is particularly important for new immigrants who do not know German or the official language used in letters and forms to have help when filling them out. Incorrect information or a wrong cross can quickly lead to problems.

You can get free support at various locations in Krefeld to help you understand letters and fill out forms and applications. You can get help with enrolments for private tuition and courses or if you need to contact nurseries, schools or authorities.

Do you already understand some of the fields on a form (e.g. surname, first name, street, house number)? Then fill in these fields. The people at the form help centre can check this so that no errors remain on the form.

💡 Did you know that some forms are already officially available in several languages? The application for child benefit is an example (Kindergeld). You can find more translated forms here.

💡 You can complete and submit the City of Krefeld's online forms in more than 100 languages. To do this, activate the "Google Translate" function in your Chrome browser.

Voluntary support

Support groups

There are people in Krefeld who volunteer to help others without receiving any money in return. These people are called "volunteers" and they can help you with various things.

For example, volunteers can help you find your way around your new neighbourhood, take part in leisure and sports activities and learn some German. If you have any questions about everyday life, you are welcome to ask a volunteer. For example, if you don't understand a letter in German or if you would like to know where there are good and affordable shopping and sports facilities or how bus and train travel works. Volunteers can also help you with questions about your bank account. Some volunteers also offer free German courses.

These centres can advise you and help you find a volunteer and provide you with suitable support services:

You can obtain information about active organisations, offers from other players, as well as your own players, from the Integration Department of the City of Krefeld. They will also advise you if you would like to join a group yourself (e.g. a migrant organisation) and become active.

Voluntary civic engagement

People who devote their time to other people or a cause are called volunteers. These people volunteer in their free time without pay. It's also sometimes known as civic engagement or voluntary work. Voluntary work provides insights into other spheres of life, expands social skills, offers contact opportunities, and reinforces a sense of community responsibility. If you want to help others, there are lots of opportunities to get involved in volunteering, for example:

- Schools and nurseries
- Sports clubs
- Cultural institutions
- Social facilities
- Homes for the elderly
- Hospitals
- Museums
