Counselling for lateral entrants

School attendance is compulsory for children and young people between the ages of 6 and 18. Children and young people who do not speak German must first go to Kommunales Integrationszentrum (KI) Oberhausen. This is where the children are registered for a school place. The KI ensures that a school place is allocated by the school inspectorate. Families receive important information about school. The KI also helps with the registration of children at school. The KI can help with the recognition of school certificates from the home country.

Registrations at KI take place without an appointment Monday to Thursday from 9am to 1pm.

You can also make an appointment:

Municipal integration management (KIM-NRW)

WHAT IS THE KIM?

With the "Municipal Integration Management (KIM)" programme, the state government wants to help cities with the problems of integration NRW. The programme aims to open up new opportunities for people with a history of immigration. The aim is to promote people's strengths. An urban structure is to be provided for their integration needs. The offices and authorities work together to achieve this. The integration processes are to be managed here.

WHAT DOES THE KIM DO?

The KIM has 3 core elements:

1. the implementation of a strategic overhead to control the entire process.
2. the realisation of case management (CM). The case managers provide advice and support as part of the integration process.
3. support from the immigration and naturalisation authorities. Here, support is provided to stabilise the integration of people from other countries with special integration achievements.

WHO ARE WE?

The Municipal Integration Centre is responsible for coordination. There are 3 positions in the "strategic overhead". There are 10 positions for the implementation of CM (module 2). The case managers work in a team. The case managers are from different organisations.

These organisations are at KIM-CM:

Die Stadt Oberhausen

Deutsches Rotes Kreuz Oberhausen e.V.

Pro wohnen international e.V.

Zentrum für Ausbildung und berufliche Qualifikationen Oberhausen e.V.

Diakoniewerk Oberhausen GmbH

Caritasverband Oberhausen e.V.

Die Mitarbeiter des KIM-CM finden Sie hier: Mitarbeiter

WHO IS HELPED BY KIM?

The target group of KIM-CM is defined in the city's local concept. These are people with a history of immigration and a wide range of counselling needs in several areas.

New EU Citizens in Oberhausen (NEO)

Neue EU-Bürger in Oberhausen

The project called "NEO" aims to create equal opportunities for all people and avoid discrimination. People who came to Germany less than 5 years ago and do not have a job receive support. Their children are also supported.

What is our goal?

Our aim is to improve the situation of EU citizens without work. We help them to participate in society. There are various ways to help people.

Here are some examples:

- We educate them about everyday life in Germany and support them in their daily lives.
- We improve their chances of finding work and education.
- We support them with financial problems.

Many offices and organisations in the city now use digital technologies to make their work easier and save time. This also simplifies many processes. New citizens in Germany need support to be able to use digital technologies properly. It is therefore important that they receive help and learn the relevant skills.

What are our services?

- We advise on and arrange language courses.

- We provide support with offers that enable improved access to the labour market.
- We help with the processing of applications and documents.
- We advise you on dealing with authorities and institutions.
- We support you in cases of discrimination.

We help new citizens in Oberhausen by connecting them with social services. We connect EU citizens in Germany who are looking for help with the services offered by social organisations in Oberhausen.

We help you to participate in the digital world. To do this, we improve your skills in the field of information technology and media. We avoid technical terms.

We offer you the following options:

- The exchange on an internet platform for counselling.
- Support with digital contact (websites, emails) with authorities and organisations at Oberhausen. For example, help with booking appointments online.
- Online consultations in which we show you how to process documents via video.

Integration agency

The integration agency helps people from different countries, cultures and religions to live well together. It gives tips for good integration. It also works together with other groups, organisations and people. The aim is for everyone to live together as equals.

The integration agency has the following tasks:

We support civic engagement

We motivate and support volunteers and people who can teach others something. You help us to ensure that integration works well. We help you to become better. We accompany you on this path.

We promote intercultural openness

- We encourage organisations and services to design their services in such a way that they are also suitable for people from other countries.
- We support you in the opening processes.
- We develop many programmes for you to promote intercultural competence.

We work in a social space-orientated way

We take a close look at what is going on in an area. Then we create programmes for the local people.

We carry out anti-discrimination work

- We provide information on the topic of discrimination.
- We carry out educational work with various target groups.
- We carry out anti-discrimination work in the context of social space-orientated work.
- We co-operate with other networks.

The programmes are for services and institutions. However, the services are also aimed at clubs, associations and migrant organisations. Volunteers and topic-specific groups are also addressed.

Refugees into Work (RiW)

The labour market needs the help of refugees. Refugees need places for work and training. This is why the "Refugees into Work (RiW) - Niederrhein" project, together with its partner, promotes the integration of refugees into the labour market and employability in the city of Oberhausen and the district of Wesel.

RiW is aimed at:

- Refugees who are over 15 years old, have a residence permit, a temporary residence permit or a tolerated stay permit and are not subject to an absolute work ban
- Stakeholders in the labour market, such as employers, authorities, labour market-related associations, clubs and initiatives

These are our services for employees:

- We support and place you in school, in training, in studies and in work.
- We help you to prepare application documents, we analyse your strengths and accompany you through the application process.
- We accompany you when you start work.
- We support you in your correspondence with the local authorities and help you with the recognition procedure for the qualifications and certificates you have obtained abroad.

This is what we offer employers:

- We show the financial support available for recruitment
- We offer assistance and sensitisation to the intercultural and diversity challenges of participants.
- We offer training to promote anti-discriminatory and anti-racist behaviour
- We offer training courses on Diversity skills and handling official matters

We support you in the recruitment process:

- We help with the application and hiring process.
- We also help if you are already working.
- We help with the professional language.
- We support you with your questions about labour law.
- We help you fill out the applications you need to start a job.

Online counselling

mbeon - Multilingual counselling in the chat

There are many local counselling centres in Germany. If the counselling centre is closed or far away from your home, digital chat counselling can help.

You can easily find information online at mbeon . You can also get counselling via chat.

mbeon enables counselling via chat. All counsellors are qualified specialists in migration counselling for adult immigrants (MBE). They are guaranteed to respond within 48 hours. They help with all questions and problems associated with life in a new environment. Counselling is anonymous, data-secure and free of charge.

The app also contains extensive information on topics such as work and career. You will also find information on the topics of health and learning German. Housing, family and residence are further topics. In addition, mbeon puts you in touch with migration advice centres and other important contact points.

The app is available in German, English, Russian and Arabic. You can receive counselling in more than 19 different languages.

The app has many advantages:

- The app is flexible. It can be used anywhere and at any time.
- Counselling is provided in your native language.
- The app is data secure. Documents can be sent quickly and securely.
- The app and counselling are free of charge.
- Counselling is anonymous.

The free app can be downloaded from the Google Play Store and the AppStore.

Counselling for women

Labour and wages

On average, women in Germany earn less than men. On the one hand, they work in areas that are paid less. This is the case in the social sector, for example. But women also often earn less than their male colleagues for the same job. Politicians have been discussing various proposals for years to achieve greater pay equality. So far, however, not much has changed.

Many women's jobs are not perceived as work. They do the housework. They bring up the children. Or they care for sick or elderly family members. These jobs are unpaid. But they are still work. It is often not recognised.

Would you like to find well-paid work in Germany? Then the first thing you should do is learn German. The BAMF offers courses especially for parents and women. Here you can also get information about childcare and the school system. Find out more at your local migration advice centre, immigration office, employment agency, job centre or directly from the schools that offer integration courses.

FGM - female genital mutilation

In Germany, female genital mutilation (Female Genital Mutilation/Cutting oder auch FGM_C) is prohibited. Since September 2013, FGM has been punishable by imprisonment. Parents are also not allowed to have their daughters circumcised abroad. This is also prosecuted under German law. (Impending) circumcision is recognised as a reason for flight and can be relevant in asylum proceedings.

The FGM_C is a dangerous bodily harm.

You can find more information here.

The direct consequences can be

- agonising pain accompanied by extreme fear and a circulatory collapse
- severe haemorrhaging
- blood poisoning and severe infection (including hepatitis, tetanus, HIV). Many girls can die as a result.

These can be the long-term consequences:

- Incontinence
- complications during sexual intercourse and childbirth
- Recurrent urinary tract infections and pelvic infections, which can lead to infertility
- Reduction or loss of the woman's ability to orgasm
- psychological trauma
- depression

If you are affected or threatened by genital mutilation, contact the help hotline on  116016. The helpline staff are there for you day and night. Counselling is also available in other languages.

In Düsseldorf there is the counselling centre "Stop Mutilation" for those affected, relatives and professionals.

Domestic violence

Your family and friends should support and protect you. However, this is not always the case. Sometimes these people can also hurt you. They can inflict violence on you. This violence can take different forms. There is physical violence, such as hitting or kicking. But there are also psychological and sexualised forms of violence. If someone you know is violent towards you, this is called "domestic violence".

Domestic violence usually takes place in the home, but can also happen in other places. Many people think of domestic violence in terms of physical violence, i.e. sexual abuse or beatings. But domestic violence also takes other forms: If you are insulted, abused, threatened or controlled, this is also domestic violence. Stalking, i.e. when you are followed and watched, can also be a form of domestic violence.

Every form of violence is a criminal offence in Germany. This means that the police must get involved if they hear about it from you, witnesses or witnesses.

If you are experiencing domestic violence yourself, you are not alone. Studies show that one in four women in Germany experience domestic violence. For many victims of domestic violence, it is difficult to go to the police or a counselling centre with their experiences. They feel ashamed and hope that the situation will change and that the violent person will calm down and stop being violent. In most cases, however, the severity of the violence tends to increase and the intervals between the individual outbreaks of violence become shorter.

There are numerous contact centres in Germany for victims of domestic violence. Do not be afraid to seek help.

If you have any questions about domestic violence or if you are acutely affected, you can get help from the women's advice centre by telephone, in person or online. It is also possible to get counselling with an interpreter. You can also contact the help hotline for violence against women around the clock ☎ 08000116016 where you can also receive counselling in other languages.

Counselling for pregnant women

During pregnancy and in the first years of your child's life, we offer you counselling, support and guidance.

Get in touch with us if you

- have any questions about pregnancy, birth and/or parenthood,
- need information about legal and financial entitlements, such as maternity allowance, parental leave and parental allowance, child benefit, child supplement, housing benefit, citizen's allowance (applications to the Federal Foundation for Mother and Child can only be made to Caritas and donum vitae),
- have questions about personal conflicts and crises in the partnership and family, are insecure or do not know what to do next, are thinking about a confidential birth,
- want counselling and support in connection with prenatal examinations,
- would like information about family planning, contraception or sex education (applications for the contraceptive fund can only be submitted to pro familia).

Termination of pregnancy

If you have conflicting or negative feelings about a pregnancy, you alone have the right to decide whether to carry the pregnancy to term or terminate it.

In Germany, it is possible to terminate a pregnancy without penalty if you observe three things:

1. You must undergo counselling at a state-recognised pregnancy conflict counselling centre. The counselling is free of charge for you and you will receive a counselling certificate, which you will need for the abortion.
2. There must be three days between the counselling and the abortion.
3. The pregnancy may only be terminated up to the end of the 12th week and only by a doctor. After the 12th week of pregnancy, an abortion is only possible in medically justified cases.

During the counselling session you have the opportunity

1. to talk about your situation and weigh up the pros and cons of the pregnancy. There is room for your thoughts and feelings and you will be supported in your decision-making process with an open mind. You can ask questions and receive information about financial and social support.
2. receive information about the different methods of termination of pregnancy (surgical/medical) and weigh up the pros and cons of the individual methods for yourself.
3. to find out whether the costs of an abortion can be covered in your situation and how you can obtain this cover.
4. to obtain addresses of doctors who perform abortions in your area.

If you have become pregnant as a result of rape, you can obtain free counselling at one of the two counselling centres listed below.

Are you under 18 and want to terminate the pregnancy? Are you unable or unwilling to tell your parents about the pregnancy? Then also contact one of the two counselling centres. The staff there will help you.

You can come to the counselling centre alone or with your partner. You can also bring another person you trust with you.

Adoption and confidential birth

If you cannot or do not want to keep your child, you can give your child up for adoption after birth. The youth welfare office will then initially take over the care and look after your child. If you then finally decide that you do not want to bring up your child yourself, you can give it up for adoption. The youth welfare office will then look for a caring family to raise your child.

If nobody is allowed to find out about your pregnancy, there is still the option of bringing your child into the world. You are not alone in this. There is the option of a so-called "confidential birth". With a "confidential birth", you can give birth to your child safely in a hospital. With the exception of a counsellor, no one will know your name. The counsellor is not allowed to talk to anyone about you. This way you remain unrecognised. After the age of 16, your child may have the right to know your name. However, apart from your child, nobody else has this right. You do not have to pay the costs of the counselling and the birth yourself. If you would like a "confidential birth", you can contact the counselling centre around the clock on the telephone number ☎ 08004040020 or online at the counselling centre "Beratung & Geburt vertraulich". Counselling is free and anonymous. The counsellors there speak many languages. Alternatively, you can also contact the counselling centres mentioned above. The staff there know what to do.

Midwife consultation

Our services

- We offer midwife consultations for pregnant women and women with small children
- We do this in cooperation with the city's "Frühe Hilfen" network Oberhausen
- This supports mothers and expectant mothers with possible challenges during and after pregnancy
- The midwife is available to provide (expectant) mothers with information on early help services
- you can also come to the midwife with questions and problems that are not directly related to motherhood
=> a solution to the problems is sought together with the mothers

When:

- On the first and third Wednesday of the month
- Consultation hours in the time from 09:30 to 11:30 am

Who are we?

intego and its non-profit organisation intego - PSFV have been active in community psychiatry in the city of Oberhausen since 1984. Today, around 130 employees are involved in the wide range of tasks carried out by intego GmbH. The organisation originated from an initiative of volunteer citizens.

Who are we there for?

We help people

- who find themselves in exceptional mental states or in situations of excessive demands
- when their own resources, other offers of help and the support of their relatives and friends are not enough to restore their well-being
- who are mentally ill
- who are at risk of mental illness and mental disability.

We help you to utilise your own resources. We want you to lead a largely independent life, integrated into society.

What do we do?

We offer various counselling and support services. Intego advises and connects people.

We offer sound psychosocial counselling. We initiate self-help and refer people to other institutions, social organisations or self-help groups. We support users in being active together and spending their leisure time together.

SGB II Counselling

The Psychosocial Health Centre (PGZ) of intego in Oberhausen works together with the Social Psychiatric Centre (SPZ), the Caritas Association and the Diakonisches Werk. They have been offering counselling together since 2006. This help is set out in a law, the §16a Nr. 3 und 4 SGB II, beschrieben.

The aim of this counselling is to help people who have been out of work for a long time. Some have problems that make it difficult to find a job. The counselling helps to reduce or solve these problems. There is special support and other offers for this.

People who receive money from the job centre (SGB II recipients) can first receive counselling at the Psychosocial Health Centre. In some cases, the centre can also ask the job centre for special support for these people. If necessary, translators can help.

Support with unemployment and against labour exploitation.

The state of North Rhine-Westphalia provides support, counselling and meeting opportunities for unemployed people or people affected by labour exploitation through its employment advice centres.

The Labour Advice Centre is funded by the European Social Fund (ESF) and the state. The advice centre supports people who are affected or threatened by unemployment. It also helps people who are suffering from labour exploitation.

Unemployed people and people threatened by unemployment can find advice on qualification and employment at the counselling centres. They also provide support with economic, psychosocial and legal issues. In future, low-threshold meeting opportunities will be offered at all counselling centres.

The new focus: labour exploitation.

The labour advice centres have a new focus. This focus is in the area of labour exploitation. Employment relationships in which the prescribed - fair and appropriate - working conditions are circumvented, for example by circumventing the statutory minimum wage, violating the Working Hours Act or failing to continue to pay wages in the event of illness, are classified as labour exploitation. In counselling, emphasis is placed on cooperation with the language services to ensure communication in the native language.

An important part of the counselling work is supporting those seeking advice in their search for lawyers. Counselling takes place on site or in consultation hours by telephone or digitally.

Counselling and support services are provided by prior appointment or during opening hours.

Experiences with discrimination

Treating people unequally because of certain characteristics is prohibited in Germany. But it is still widespread. Whether when looking for accommodation, at work, in authorities, schools, doctors' surgeries, in leisure time or with the police. Discrimination can happen in all areas of life. Am I not allowed into the club because I have a disability? Did I not get the job because I wear a headscarf? Are my children treated less favourably at school because they speak little German? Do the police only check me on the long-distance bus because I have a different skin colour? Does the taxi driver refuse to give me a lift because I am transgender? Experiences like these lead to anger, powerlessness and a feeling of helplessness. But you don't have to simply accept discrimination. You have the right to defend yourself against it.

All people in Germany have this right. Regardless of their origin or residence status. It is enshrined in the German constitution as one of the human rights. You can take legal action against discrimination.

Have I been discriminated against?

Sometimes you don't know exactly whether you have been discriminated against. You are unsure because other people don't see a problem with an action or don't think the discrimination is bad. This is where counselling can help. The staff at the counselling centre will take your experiences seriously. They can tell you whether your experience is also legally considered discrimination and what legal options you now have. But even if your experience is not legally considered discrimination, the counselling centre can help you. The staff can help you to come to terms with what you have experienced and develop strategies for the future.

The anti-discrimination advice centres support all people who have experienced discrimination and would like advice.

For example, you can seek advice directly from the Federal Anti-Discrimination Agency at  030185551855. The advice centre is available at  on Mondays from 1 - 3 pm and  on Wednesdays and Fridays from 9 am - 12 pm. The staff speak German. Counselling is free of charge and anonymous if you wish. You will have to pay the usual telephone charges for the call.

You can also ask the German Anti-Discrimination Association for help.

Alternatively, you can also contact a migration counselling service for adults or the youth migration service. The staff often speak many languages and can help you with all problems relating to life in Germany.

What do I do if I have been discriminated against by the police?

Police officers are not above the law. What they may and may not do is regulated in the Criminal Code, the Code of Criminal Procedure and police law. You can find out more here.

Important: You have the right to ask for the police officer's identity card and to write down their details. This is important if you want to file a criminal complaint later. It is also always helpful to ask passers-by to observe the situation. Then you also have witnesses. Please note: You must file a criminal complaint within three months of the incident. You can do this directly with the public prosecutor's office. You do not have to go to the police.

Lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans* and inter* (LGBTI)

Many different people live together in Germany. They have different religions. They are of different genders. They come from different countries. They have different political views. All these people live together peacefully. They all have the same rights.

The same applies to people of different sexual orientations or gender identities: these include lesbians, gays, bisexuals, transgender and intersex people. In short, they are called LSTBI. They have the same rights in Germany as other people.

There are three genders in Germany. These are "male", "female" and "diverse". Transgender people can change their gender in Germany. They can also have their name changed. Women are allowed to love and marry women in Germany. Men are allowed to love and marry men in Germany.

👥 Many people at LSBTI have fled to Germany because they were persecuted in their home country. Are you a refugee and lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender or intersex? Then you can contact one of the many LSBTI organisations in Germany. There you will find support, social contacts and information about LSBTI. You can find their contact details at the LSVD project "Queer Refugees Deutschland". You will also find further information:

People with disabilities

In Germany, almost one in ten people has a severe disability. Many more people have health impairments. Or they are chronically ill. For example, there are people who cannot see. They are blind. There are people who cannot hear. They are deaf. Some people's bodies are smaller than others. Some things are not so easy for them. You can't walk by yourself. Or it is more difficult to do a certain job. But they should also be able to participate in society. There are inclusion measures for this. For example, they get help at work. Or children receive special support even before they start kindergarten. It's called early intervention.

Early intervention

Early intervention is for young children who have a disability or could develop a disability. It also helps children who develop more slowly than other children in certain areas. Examples of early intervention are Speech support, vision school or movement therapy. Early intervention is available for children from birth to school age. Early intervention is important to avoid disabilities or to minimise the consequences of disabilities.

Your paediatrician can help you find early intervention. You can also contact the health department.

Severely disabled people

People with a degree of disability of 50 or more can obtain a severely disabled person's pass. There are a number of advantages associated with this card. For example, tax reductions. And reduced or free use of buses and trains. The benefits a person receives depend on the type of disability and the degree of disability. You can apply for a disabled person's pass from the pension office.

The family guide provides valuable information here. You can find out what the degree of disability is. You will learn who determines the degree of disability. And what you can do if you do not agree with your degree of disability.

Probleme bei der Inklusion

However, there are still many problems with the integration of people with disabilities. Because people are not disabled - they are disabled: The ATM that is too high prevents them from being able to collect money without any problems. The stairs are off-limits for wheelchairs. And the small font is a problem for visually impaired people. Do you see someone who might need help? Then ask if you can help.

Assisted living

There are various shelters in Oberhausen that offer support.

Help for homeless people

Various personal crises can throw a person off course. This can also involve the loss of their own flat or home. Our facility provides homeless people with a temporary home and helps them to find a new perspective.

As an inpatient help centre, Carl-Sonnenschein-Haus looks after homeless, single people aged 21 and over who are in need and cannot get out on their own. The admission of young adults aged 18 to 21 and foreign nationals requires prior agreement with the funding organisation.

There are 80 places in total. Residents also have the opportunity to attend courses and further their education.

The aim is to help people to lead an independent life. They should be able to take part in life and the community again. We help them to build social relationships, find a job and also to find their own home. You can find more information on our website.

Wilhelm-Knappmann-Haus

We give people with mental illness a home.

The Wilhelm Knappmann-Haus facility is a form of accommodation for people with mental illness in Oberhausen. There is space for 26 residents.

The residents live together in small residential groups. They can organise their area according to their own wishes. This includes having their own room. Our staff support people in their everyday lives if they need help.

We offer the residents a structure for the day. For example, we do household chores together. We also go for walks, cook or do handicrafts together.

Franziskus-Haus

Our Franziskus-Haus is home to people with a mental disability. There are 40 places and rooms in the house. We are currently looking for new members.

The facility has a large garden. A total of five residential groups live together. The aim is for residents to learn to live independently. Specialist staff support and accompany them in this process.

The residents can also visit and work in a workshop for people with disabilities. These and many other activities are designed to give the residents a structure to their day.

There is another residential group at a second location with a total of 14 places.

Rohlandshof for senior citizens

Against loneliness in old age

Poverty and social isolation are common in old age. We want to do something about this with our residential community for senior citizens.

We want to help our residents to lead an independent life. Physical limitations and disabilities are not a problem: our flats are suitably equipped and also suitable for wheelchair users. They can be personalised.

The residential groups also have communal rooms and a large kitchen. There are also five separate flats. The apartments are spread over two floors. There is a lift.

Our residents receive counselling and support from our staff. The community in the home is also important to us and is encouraged by us.

With our facility, we want to help older people to live in their own four walls for as long as possible and not in a care home.

Christophorus Junges Wohnen

Our facility provides a home for young adults with a mental impairment.

The residents have 16 single rooms in four residential groups and four apartments for one person each. They are between 18 and 26 years old.

Our social and educational programmes are geared towards the needs of young adults. Our team consists of qualified specialised staff.

The young women and men are often in difficult situations when they are admitted. They are often no longer able to lead a regular social life. They have various psychological, emotional and social limitations. They find it difficult to realise their own wishes and ideas.

We support these people and want to provide them with protection and care. The aim is to enable people to live independently. In doing so, we always focus on the individual and their wishes.

We assume that young adults can still develop a great deal. This is why our programmes are limited in time.
